

Tsatali Marianna

Marianna Tsatali received her bachelor from the Psychology department of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki and the MSc in the Management of Chronic Pain from the Medical School of the University of Ioannina. Additionally, she holds a professional diploma from the Brain Tree Rehabilitation Center Surrey in UK. She received the Ph.D. degree from the Psychology department of the University of Sheffield, UK, and is currently running a post doc research in the National Ageing Research of the University of Heidelberg, as well as the Laboratory of Psychology, Department of Cognitive and Experimental Psychology at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. Moreover, she is an International co-founder and co-partner of Ain Shams Cognitive Training lab, Cairo, Egypt. Finally, she has contributions in interdisciplinary conferences either as presenter or having poster presentations, as well as she is author of more than 45 published papers in scientific journals.

Current Employment

Psychologist at Greek Association of Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders, Thessaloniki, Greece

Current Research Projects

- DE-SIGN
(funding by the EU-Program Erasmus+, duration 2022-2025)
Subject: Raising Awareness for Dementia in Deaf Older Adults in Europe